Adults May Still Enroll

Registration for Adult Education classes was held Thursday, Sept. 18. Adults who are interested in any of the adult classes, except cake decorating, may still enroll. Classes that will accept adults are Adult Basic, G.E.D. Review, Art, Guitar, Woodworking, Physical Education for both men and women, Typing, Shorthand, Bricklaying, Sewing, and Auto Mechanics. Since adult classes are geared to the individual, late enrollers will not find themselves at any disadvantaged by enrolling in a class that has started. Persons interested in enrolling in any of the above classes may do so by reporting to the class at the scheduled time, or by calling R. B. Carter, the Adult Education Coordinator, at 352-8722.

Some of the above classes have not reached sufficient numbers to offer the class. It is hoped that adults will take advantage of these educational opportunities to improve their present skills, learn a new skill, or just for the pleasure of learning something new.

Nationwide Consumer Service Program

A nationwide Consumer Service Program designed to improve and broaden the quality of mail service has been announced by the U.S. Postal Service.

Beginning October 1 a consumer service card will be available at your local post office, through which problems are identified and which postal managers attempt to expeditiously resolve.

The Consumer Service Program reflects Postmaster General Benjamin F. Ballar's determination that mail services to the public will be 'friendly,courteous, and efficient, as well as speedy and reliable.

'Good service is a far broader concept than just fast mail handling, as important as that is,'the Postmaster General says. 'It is also built on employee courtesy, our responsiveness to customer needs, the sympathy and understanding we bring to your own expectations of what good postal service is all about.' To make it easier for a customer to make a suggestion or complaint about postal service,the new consumer service card will also be available from letter carriers and rural carriers.

The card is two postal cards with carbon paper between them. One copy goes to the local postmaster so work can begin on the problem. The other goes to Postal Service Headquarters in Washington for cataloging and analysis. The data will help management spot problem areas and trends and take corrective action if necessary. It should take no more than two minutes to fill out.

Your postmaster and his staff are willing to discuss any problems. The whole point of this service program is to bring your problems and gripes out into the open where we can attempt to resolve them.
